DESCRIPTION: Philadelphia architect's hard hat stage project featured by Chestnut Hill Conservancy

TITLE: Chestnut Hill Great Houses Tour Features Krieger + Associates

Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; May 24, 2017 -- Krieger + Associates' renovation of a 10,000 square foot Crefeld Street home became the first ever "hard hat" tour stop on the prestigious Chestnut Hill Conservancy annual Great Houses Tour, this year held May 21. The home, built in 1915, faces Fairmount Park and has beautiful grounds and a stone exterior.

"We preserve the historic character of the house while adapting the interior to a 21st century lifestyle," says architect and principal Jeff Krieger. "The house is from a time when there were live-in servants and entertaining went on in the living room, dining room and study." A larger kitchen, family room and kids bedrooms will replace the existing kitchen, butler's pantry and servants' bedrooms.

Krieger + Associates Architects is an award-winning Philadelphia firm providing architectural and planning services to residential, institutional, and commercial clients for over 20 years. Projects include renovations, additions, new construction, and feasibility studies. More at www.kriegerarchitects.com.
